Jesús Suaste
JOB DESCRIPTION HERE

Creative and dedicated professional with a PhD in Sociology, coupled with recent hands-on experience in programming and web development. Known for creative problem-solving, analytical thinking, and a strong work ethic. Proven ability to conduct in-depth research and produce high-quality work under tight deadlines.

CODING PROJECTS

Amlo Dice   www.amlodice.vercel.app

This React App is a tool for research in political discourse analysis. It allows to find phrases or words in a database of 2,300 speeches of the Mexican presidency. In addition to counting the repetitions of each word per year, it allows visualizing the context and links to the original transcription. Made with React, PostgreSql and Prisma.

Contracanto website   suastech.github.io/contracanto

This fantastic group of Mexican teenage girls, originally from a small town called Atlacholoaya, have a choir that is struggling to make its way on the stages of their country and the world. This is their website.

El Terraplanista (The Flatearther)   suastech.github.io/elterraplanista

"The Flatearther" compiles some of the most hilarious and absurd phrases in Mexican and international politics. We proudly present to the world this museum of declarative disinhibition, the triumph of nonsense and the defeat of logic.

Bibliotopía   www.bibliotopia.net

In 2021 I created Bibliotopía, an independent publisher specializing in social science and philosophy books.

Artist Connection   https://artist-connection.netlify.app/

This site simulates a social network that allows you to directly contact local artists and book them. In addition to geolocation, it incorporates a chat with real-time interaction. MERN application.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Founder | Translator | Editor   2021 - today
Bibliotopía | Mexico

In 2021, I founded Bibliotopía, an independent publishing house focused on releasing high-level academic books in philosophy and social sciences. Bibliotopía has published works by university professors from various countries around the world.
